

Production Operator 100% (m/w) at Puidoux (VD)

Atracsys is a Swiss company specialized in leading-edge 3D/6D optical pose measurement systems for medical, research, education and industrial applications. The primary focus being on robotic and computer assisted surgery (CAS) systems.

Join a young, dynamic and motivated team challenging work at the edge of technology and enjoying significant growth

Your work will take part in the production of high-tech optical tracking systems dedicated to robotic and image-guided surgery, as well as industrial applications.

Job description:

Our Production Operator is responsible for perform a variety of routine in the configuration of finished product assembly for customer orders.

Responsibilities:

- Reception of finished device
- Performing in-process tests
- Follows established manufacturing procedures
- Set up machine (CMM) to start a production cycle
- Operate/monitor reports during operation to ensure production quality and minimal unplanned stops
- Inform Team Leader or Production Supervisor of any problems pertaining to production, parts, equipment or processes
- Assist technicians with the inspection of mechanical parts
- Maintain the work area clean, safe and organized
- Perform other duties as needed within the facility

Experience/Qualification:

- Proven experience as production operator
- Computer skills, proficient in the use of MS office suite
- Able to follow instructions and production schedules
- Attention to detail
- Working knowledge of measurement tools (caliper, micrometer..)
- Must have the ability to read, write, and communicate clearly in English and French
- Ability to work in a team environment
- Experience in a manufacturing environment is a plus

The position is available immediately

Send your CV and motivation letter today to: job@atracsys.com.

